WHY HERE

Rent a space that feels lived-in and loved

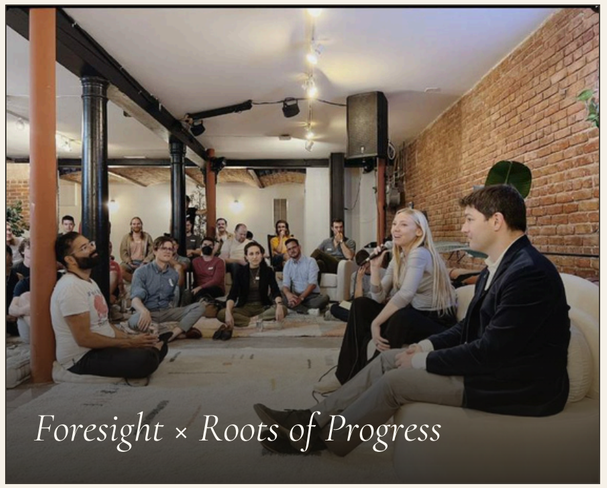

The Commons is a well-loved community living room in the heart of San Francisco. It has hosted thousands of salons, book clubs, workshops, and creative nights.

Because it's built and run by its community, the room has a warmth you can't stage: lived-in, comfortable, unmistakably homely. We work with individuals, small groups, organizations, and companies, and can accommodate just about any kind of gathering.

What people host here

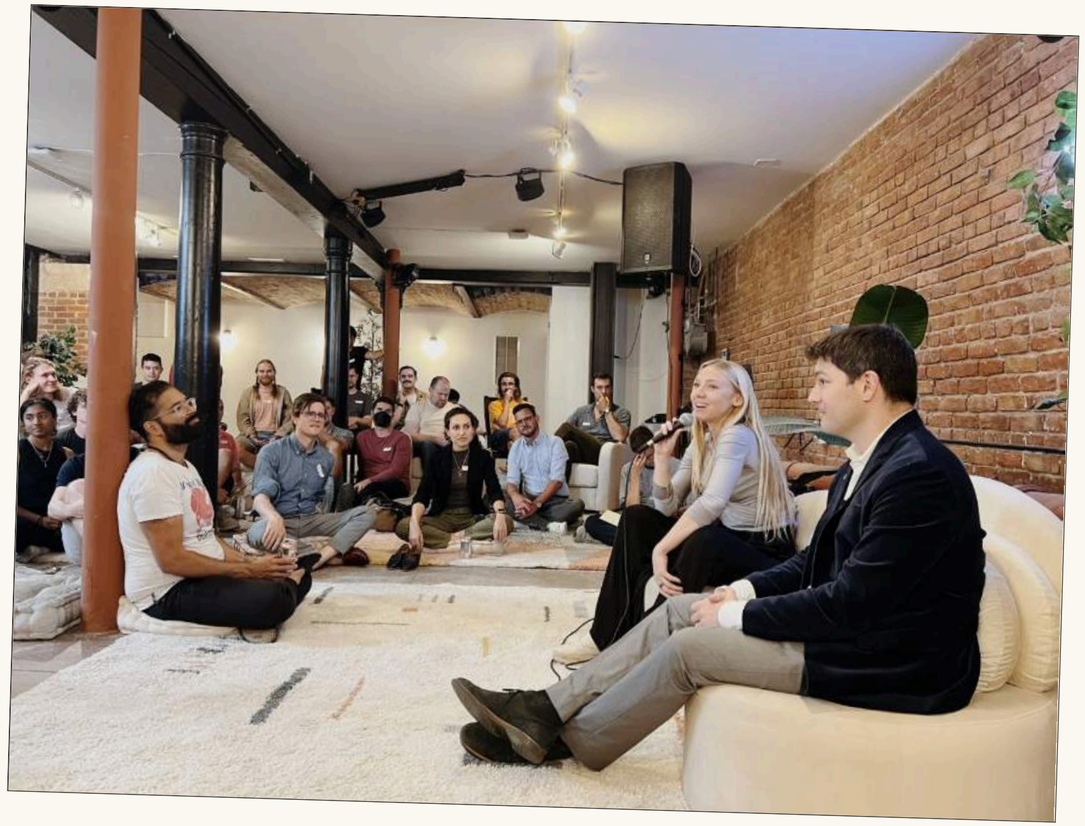

CASE STUDY · A SALON

The Progress Salon

A fireside evening on the history, future, and aims of technological progress, with Allison Duettmann of the Foresight Institute and Jason Crawford of Roots of Progress.

FORMAT	GUESTS	LAYOUT
Fireside salon	~60	Couches + floor

CASE STUDY · LIVE MUSIC

Sounds of the Season

A winter afternoon of soulful live music and holiday snacks, featuring local creatives SHADES, The Soulestics, and SAP SOUNDS. String lights up, keys and mic front-of-room, the whole floor pulled into a listening circle.

FORMAT	GUESTS	SOUND
Live-music matinée	~80	House PA + mics

CASE STUDY · A SUNDAY SERVICE

The Mystical Hearth

A Sunday service for pluralistic expressions of the sacred. The guest was Kathryn "Kati" Devaney, PhD, a neuroscientist and longtime meditation practitioner who bridges contemplative practice and the science of the mind.

FORMAT	GUESTS	SETTING
Sunday service	100	Candlelit circle

CASE STUDY · A COMMUNITY DINNER

An Inter-Cultural Dinner

By day, our co-working space feels like a cozy underground Oxford study. By evening, we push the tables together into one long communal table and set it for a banquet, tulips, candlelight, and platters down the middle.

We hosted a beautiful dinner for inter-cultural couples who wanted to understand one another's cultures a little better.

FORMAT	GUESTS	LAYOUT
Communal dinner	40	One long table

You bring the people. We have the rest.

- 🔊 Two Harbinger Vari V2312 speakers (Bluetooth)
